2. Candidates will be able to access the "Applicant Application Form" through the online system on AYBU's website https://obs.aybu.edu.tr/oibs/foa_app/ within the application period. Applications will only be accepted through this online system, and candidates can submit their applications individually via the internet. Instructions for filling out the form can be found on the announcement screen.
3. Candidates can select up to two (2) programs based on their exam/diploma type and score.
4. Candidates only need to submit one exam with the highest score from the valid exams listed in the table, in order of priority, in the "Exams" section of the application form. Other exams entered, apart from the one that will be evaluated in the review stage, will not be considered.
5. Candidates will complete their applications after paying the application fee. Applications of candidates who do not pay the fee within the specified period will be considered incomplete and will be canceled.
6. The documents of applicants whose applications have been recorded are reviewed by the authorized staff of the Student Affairs Department to ensure compliance with the application requirements. If there are no deficiencies and all conditions are met, the applicant's submission is approved in the system. Applications of candidates whose status is changed to "incorrect/incomplete documents" in the system will not be considered for evaluation until they complete the missing documents and re-approve their application.

7. Applicants who do not meet the application requirements or fail to upload the required documents within the application period will have their application status changed to "rejected" in the system, and their applications will not be considered for evaluation.

ATTENTION! Applicants are solely responsible for the accuracy and validity of the information provided in their applications, as well as for any errors or omissions that may be detected after the application has been approved. Candidates who are in their final year of high school and apply based on expected results must meet the required grade at the time of enrollment. If the required grade is not met, registration will not be completed even if the candidate has been granted the right to enroll. Applications containing incorrect or inappropriate information or documents will be canceled. Candidates who are granted the right to enroll must present the original versions of the documents they uploaded to the system for verification at the time of registration. The registration of candidates who complete the enrollment process at AYBU will be considered provisional until the final verification of their information and documents is completed.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPLICATION RESULTS

The application results will be announced in the “Announcements” section of the website of the AYBU Directorate of Student Affairs. These announcements will serve as official notifications, and no separate result document will be sent to the applicants. Candidates will be able to access their application results using their ID numbers and passwords via the following web address: https://obs.aybu.edu.tr/oibs/foa_app/. One of the following statuses will be included in the results:

- a) You have not qualified for enrollment.
- b) You have qualified for enrollment.
- c) Pending.

“Pre-Acceptance Letter” will be sent via the online application system to candidates who are granted the right to final enrollment at AYBU. Since the evaluation for enrollment from the waiting list is based on candidates who are on hold, applicants whose result is announced as “Pending” must regularly check the announcements on the website of the AYBU Directorate of Student Affairs and the email addresses they provided in the application system. Candidates who applied to programs that admit students through a Special Talent Exam and passed the preliminary evaluation must succeed in the Special Talent Exam conducted by AYBU in order to gain the right to final enrollment. The “Pre-Acceptance Letter” sent to these approved applicants is provisional, and the final right to enroll will only be granted upon passing the “Special Talent Exam” conducted by the relevant academic unit. Announcement regarding the Special Talent Exam will be issued separately to those candidates.

Candidates who have gained the right to enroll in our university and are currently enrolled as regular students in a similar program at another higher education institution in our country must have their registration canceled at the other institution at the time they apply for enrollment at our university.

At Ankara Yıldırım Beyazıt University (AYBU), the ECTS credits of courses are determined based on the workload required in line with students' learning outcomes. Through instruments such as the Diploma Supplement and ECTS credits, it is aimed to facilitate the international recognition of the education received by students and thereby enhance professional and academic mobility.

EVALUATION

HOW ARE APPLICATIONS EVALUATED?

Applicants who apply for the 2026-2027 academic year for associate and bachelor's degree programs at AYBU under the international student quota will undergo a two-phase process as outlined in the steps below.

1. Preliminary Review of the Application Documents

- a) All applicants are reviewed according to the quota of the "Application Type" they have applied for. Applicants who do not submit the required documents for their application type will have their application status changed to "Incorrect/Incomplete Documents."
- b) The application status of candidates who upload their documents to the system completely will be changed to "Approved."
- c) The application status of candidates whose applications do not meet the above-mentioned requirements will be changed to "Rejected."
- d) After the application status is updated, candidates will receive an email at the address they provided in the form, stating "Your application status has been changed." It is the candidates' responsibility to monitor their application status through the "Online Application System" and pay attention to the relevant notifications in the explanation section.

ATTENTION! Due to the potential high volume of applications in the last week of the application period, application evaluation may extend beyond the deadline. To avoid the risk of rejection due to incomplete documents, candidates are advised not to leave their applications until the last days. If there are any doubts regarding the documents uploaded with the application, the Directorate of Student Affairs may request additional information and documents.

2. Evaluation of Applications

Quota distribution for placement in programs is done according to the applicants' country of citizenship. The placement results will be announced on the AYBU Directorate of Student Affairs website. Table 2, which includes the exams to be considered in the evaluation of applications and the minimum scores required for admission, is provided at the end of this guide.

Applicants whose applications are accepted through the Online Application System will be evaluated according to the following steps, considering the scores of the diplomas or exams listed in Table 2, their preferences for higher education programs, and the quotas and requirements based on the country quotas for these programs. Those who are successful in the ranking will be placed in the relevant program according to their preferences.

- a) In the placements for the relevant program, candidates who hold the exam result documents specified in Table 2-A, within the quota distribution according to country of citizenship, will be given priority.
- b) After the placements of these candidates are completed, the remaining quotas will be filled based on the country of citizenship quota distribution, considering Table 2-B.
- c) After these placements are completed, if any vacancies remain, candidates will be placed according to Table 2-C, taking into account the quota distribution based on country of citizenship.
- d) In case of equal diploma/exam scores during the evaluation, priority will be given based on the language proficiency certificate score, if available. To see the language exams recognized as equivalent by our university, please refer to the language equivalency table in the Useful Information section of this guide.
- e) Candidates who have applied to departments or programs that admit students through a special talent exam and meet the preliminary acceptance requirements will be evaluated based on their performance in the special talent exam conducted by the relevant Faculty/Conservatory.

- f) The evaluation of applications and the placement of candidates are entirely under the authority of AYBU. After the registration process at AYBU is completed, if candidates who have been granted the right to enroll in programs do not register, or if there are no applicants for certain programs, additional placements may be made for the vacant quotas. In such cases, AYBU has the discretion to alter the evaluation methods specified in the table.
- g) Meeting the application requirements does not guarantee admission to the program. AYBU is free to fill or leave the quotas unfilled.
- h) The applications of children of foreign diplomats serving in Turkey will be evaluated under the priority exam/diploma category in Table 2-A, provided they meet the minimum application requirements.

TUITION FEE

Candidates accepted to our university are responsible for providing the financial means necessary to cover their living expenses in Turkey during their study period (such as accommodation, meals, books, stationery, personal needs, etc.). Students who are granted the right to enroll are considered to have accepted this responsibility.

As a rule, the annual tuition fee determined by the University Executive Board shall be paid in two installments, prior to the beginning of the fall and spring semesters of the relevant academic year. The tuition fees for the programs to be applied for the 2026–2027 academic year have not yet been determined and will be announced separately after the relevant decision of the Presidency is published. Click here to review the tuition fees of the previous academic year (2025–2026).

However, candidates who are granted the right to register within the scope of the preliminary acceptance announcement are required to pay the preliminary acceptance fee specified in this guide in advance, to be added to the first installment of the tuition fee at the time of registration, within the announced dates. The preliminary acceptance fees by program are provided in the table at the end of this guide, which includes program and quota information. Once candidates who are entitled to enroll at our University pay the preliminary acceptance fee, the payment is reflected in the University registration system.

The applications of candidates who fail to pay the preliminary acceptance fee or pay it incompletely shall be cancelled, and such candidates will not be registered at the University. No refund shall be made to candidates who voluntarily withdraw after completing the preliminary acceptance process. The preliminary acceptance fee does not constitute the full tuition fee and shall be deducted from the total tuition fee to be announced in the 2026–2027 International Student Admission Guide. The remaining balance of the first installment shall be paid prior to the final university registration process.

ATTENTION! Students who will study in the preparatory class of AYBU School of Foreign Languages are required to pay the tuition fee of the program they are enrolled in. Students who will receive Turkish preparatory education at AYBU DİLMER must pay the tuition fee of the program they have been placed in during university registration. This fee will be transferred to the first semester of the program they will begin after completing the preparatory education. For the Turkish preparatory education, the course fees are determined by DİLMER and must be paid separately.
